

Our Investment Approach

The Jenkins Foundation is committed to the vision of a healthy community with equitable access to health care. The Foundation funds organizations that address health disparities resulting from inequitable social, economic, or environmental conditions. The Foundation's grantmaking seeks to improve access to primary health, mental health, and substance use disorder services.

In particular, the Jenkins Foundation strives to fund proposals that are:

- Filling gaps to meet the needs of the community
- Providing community-based services
- Increasing access to services in under-resourced communities
